

Gary Grunow

Class of 1985

Doctor of Family Practice Medicine

University of Wisconsin-Madison Medical School and Residency

B.S. University of Wisconsin-Platteville

Gary was inspired by his father, a social studies teacher at Dodgeville High School, to become a doctor and give back to the Dodgeville community. Gary has spent his entire career in Dodgeville practicing family medicine. Gary's advice to students is to set your goals and standards high, and then work at it persistently and steadily. There are no hurdles you cannot clear if you have the desire, fortitude, and drive to succeed. Named as a Distinguished Alumnus at U.W.-Platteville and later as State of Wisconsin Forester of the Year, Gary's greatest honor is the thank yous he receives from patients and families dealing with births, illnesses, and assisting relatives and families with end of life and the dying process.
